IN FLIGHT, the Beaver, built by de Havilland, is shown here. It was made specifically for backwoods flying and is replete with features to meet north country conditions. Pilot visibility is practically unlimited. It has 1,000 to 1,200 pounds payload capacity

3 TORONTO YOUTHS DESIGN PLANE FOR FOREST BLAZES

Three Toronto youths designed a cargo aircraft recently for use in Ontario's bushland for combating forest fires and yesterday saw their dream take to the air at De Havilland airport in the first official tests of the machine. Provincial government officials announced they would purchase 25 of the aircraft over the next three years to replace present equipment in the north-land.

The youths who designed the plane named the "Beaver", and produced by DeHavilland Aircraft Corp., are F. H. Buller, R. D. Hiscocks and J. B. Huston. The trio got together last year and decided that existing aircraft did not suit the bill for fighting forest fires. They designed the "Beaver" which would have a heavy payload, low operating cost and the ability to "take-off" in small narrow lakes.

According to Frank McDougall, deputy minister of lands and forests, the "Beaver" fits the bill. He said the service actually needs about 50 full-time planes to combat the forest fires of the province every year. At the present time, the service has but 26 aircraft. He said that Ontario has the finest forest fire fighting services in the world, though sadly understaffed. "We actually need twice as many planes as we have at the present time," he said. "This new equipment will only replace obsolete planes. They will be used in summer for forestry patrol and for game and fishery work in the winter months. We are spending $1,000,000 for improvements to our main base at Sault Ste. Marie and are shaping our department to cover the northern Ontario regions all year round. The "Beaver" was designed to specifications needed in Ontario's north-land."

GREEKS SEND THANKS FOR CANADIAN HELP

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—(CP)—Prime Minister King last night announced receipt of a message from Demetrios Maximos, prime minister of Greece, thanking Canada for her appropriation of $20,000,000 as her contribution to meet the relief needs of Europe.

"The Greek people," Mr. Maximos said, "are determined to devote all their efforts to achieve reconstruction and to preserve their free institutions. Therefore, they feel particularly grateful to the friendly nations who are extending them their valuable assistance in this critical time where the cause of freedom and their very independence are at stake."

Mr. McDougall said the three greatest forest areas in the world were located in Russia, Quebec and Ontario. He said his department had had steady communication with Russia and had traded material in regard to the preservation of forests. At the present time there are 23 bases in the province for air service in forest fighting and during the winter months there will be 10 bases for fish and game research.

TOURIST DIES, 4 HURT IN CAR-TRUCK CRASH

North Bay, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Rupert Perry, St. Clair Shores, Mich., was killed and four others sent to hospital yesterday with injuries when an automobile driven by Mr. Perry was in collision with a truck driven by Russell Bilodeau, North Bay, Bilodeau was arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Perry was operated upon yesterday for a deep scalp wound. His daughter, Ellen Mae, and two other passengers in the car, Mrs. Margaret May-Bohnhoff and Miss Hattie Bohnhoff, of St. Clair Shores, suffered shock, bruises and cuts.

Bilodeau is reported to have told police his truck skidded while rounding a curve on No. 11 highway four miles south of North Bay, and the rear platform struck the Perry car. The car was badly damaged and a trailer was thrown into the ditch. The Perrys were on their way home from a holiday at Lake Nipissing.

FIRES FROM PICKERS BAN TRAVEL IN BUSH

Kirkland Lake, Ont., Aug. 20.—(CP)—Berry pickers were blamed for 11 forest fires which broke out yesterday in the Kirkland Lake area as an order went into effect banning travel on bush roads in 18 townships. More than 100 men were pressed into service by the Ontario Forestry department to control the fires. According to B.A.S. MacDonald, of the forestry branch here, this is the first time in department records that so many fires have broken out simultaneously in this locality.
